Full stack web developer with a passion for learning and discovering new programs. With experience in Ruby on Rails, JavaScript, React, etc. and a background in insurance, I discovered web development through close friends. I bring strong experience in dealing with great deals of data and the ability to thrive in a fast-paced work environment. I'm eager to assist a new business venture as well as bring new insight to an already flourishing one. My unique desire is to not only use my currently demonstrated skills, but to be challenged and given a new set of technical tools to work and learn with so I may grow.
